

Society

The month of April has been anything but a spring month so far as the weather was concerned, and society has been limited almost entirely to indoor affairs. The last few days of the past week, however, society will be out of doors at last, and the tennis tournament which took place at the Country Club of Virginia was a marked success from beginning to end. Several visiting girls here took part in the tournament, and a distinguished and charming personage here from Baltimore was the Duchess of Richelieu, who is a guest of Captain and Mrs. Willard. Fascinating groups of people were seated at the little tea tables that dotted the terrace and lawn of the clubhouse each afternoon, and numerous dinners and luncheons were given at the club during the week.

For the coming week society will turn its attention to the May Festival of the Wednesday Club, and Monday and Tuesday evenings, as well as the matinee on Tuesday, will mark some very fashionable gatherings. Any number of affairs have been planned in honor of Miss Bettie Burwell Booker, who is a guest of Captain and Mrs. Willard. Fascinating groups of people were seated at the little tea tables that dotted the terrace and lawn of the clubhouse each afternoon, and numerous dinners and luncheons were given at the club during the week.

At the Woman's Club. Dr. C. Alphonso Smith, of the University of Virginia, will address the members of the Woman's Club tomorrow afternoon at half-past 4 o'clock on the subject of "Folk Lore." Dr. Smith made a fascinating talk on the subject of "Idealism in American Literature" at the club earlier in the season, and the club parlors will be crowded with guests to hear him speak again.

The hour of the lecture has been changed from 5 to half-past 4 o'clock, since it is imperative that the speaker leave town for Charlottesville Monday afternoon, and all attending Dr. Smith's talk are asked to be at the club at half-past 4 o'clock. Miss Annie Steger Winston is chairman of the afternoon.

Recent Announcements. Mrs. Fannie Nott Spaulde announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Fannie Lloyd, to the Rev. John William Hickman, of Wapameck, Okla. The wedding will be celebrated on June 25.

The Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Sherrard, of Crozet, have announced the approaching marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Matthews, to the Rev. Theron H. Rice, D. D., of the Union Theological Seminary, near Richmond. The wedding will take place on the morning of May 28.

Washington Reception. The Washington Post contains the following of interest to society here: "The daughters of the President and Mrs. Wilson, Miss Jessie Wilson, Miss Eleanor Wilson, were guests of honor Thursday afternoon at a beautiful May Day reception at the Congressional Club. Blooming dogwood and great bunches of marguerites adorned the parlors and lined the stairway. A May pole of flowers and ribbons formed the central decoration of the tea table. All the young girls belonging to the club were there to assist, and the function was one of the most delightful in the history of the club. There was music by an orchestra, and a number of the girls had an informal dance after the throng of the first hour of the reception had diminished.

"Mrs. Duncan U. Fletcher, president of the club, received the guests of honor standing in line with her. Mrs. Fletcher wore a handsome gown of pompadour taffeta combined with lace and diamond ornaments. Miss Wilson, who stood at her right, wore a gown of blue crepe de chine with a Dutch neck finished with a lace collar. Miss Jessie Wilson wore a gown of gray chiffon brocade, with a V-shaped gimp of shadow lace, a little French vest, and giraffe and sash of mauve crepe meteor. Miss Eleanor Wilson, who stood at the end of the line, was in blue crepe de chine, embroidered in panels of coral, with a giraffe also of Whatever her rank in society—a woman should always be beautiful; it is her part in life, almost her duty.

Always Beautiful

Although advancing years, sickness, grief, anxiety may dim her beauty, fade her complexion and produce wrinkles, there is a cure—

GOURAUD'S Oriental Cream

It renders the skin like the softness of velvet, leaving it clear and nearly white. A daily necessity for the ladies' toilet, whether at home or while traveling, as it protects the skin from all weather blemishes. It is a perfect non-greasy toilet cream, and positively will not cause or encourage the growth of hair, which every lady should guard against when selecting a toilet preparation.

Nearly all the members of the club now in Washington, many of them accompanied by their husbands, were present.

Home Wedding. "Village View," the pretty Colonial home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Briggs, near Emporia, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock, when their daughter, Miss Virginia Land Briggs, became the bride of Dr. Wilfred Poultny Adams, the Rev. Naff officiating.

The ceremony was performed in the drawing-room, which was decorated in palms, ferns and yellow roses. Miss Lorna Briggs was at the piano and played Lohengrin's "Wedding March" as a prelude.

The bride entered with her father, who gave her away, and her only attendant was her sister, Miss Sara Prince Briggs, who wore white crepe de chine and duchesse lace and carried a bouquet of white sweet peas. Little Miss Wilfred Briggs preceded her sister, carrying the ring in an open Bible. The bride wore a traveling gown of tan cloth with a hat of the same shade and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley. Dr. Malcolm Graham Adams, recently of Mexico, was his brother's best man.

The bride is widely known as a singer of no small talent, and the groom is a son of the late William Poultny Adams and Mrs. Adams, of Scottsville.

after the ceremony for a Northern wedding trip, and on their return will reside at "Village View."

Engagement Announced. Mrs. Ada C. Fairbank announces the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Zeldia Henrietta, to Howard Franklin Yost. The wedding will be celebrated at St. Mark's Episcopal Church on Tuesday, June 24.

Williamsburg Excursion. An interesting excursion will be run by the Alumnae Association of the Woman's College to Williamsburg next Saturday, May 10. A pleasing feature of the stay in Williamsburg will be the two baseball games played there between William and Mary and Richmond College for the championship of the season. The committee in charge of the affair includes Mrs. F. H. Templeman and Mrs. Edward Burton.

Surprise Party. Little Austin Spotts was tendered a delightful surprise party at his home in Highland Park last Thursday evening by a number of his little friends. The occasion was the birthday of the host, and games and music amused the guests until refreshments were served in the dining-room, which was prettily decorated in spring flowers. Some of those present were little Samuel Templeman, Vaverly Richardson, George Shaver, Jack Connelly, Connie Smith, William Lockett, William Spratley, William Saunders, Wheeler Huff and Austin Spotts.

At the Art Club. Miss Elizabeth Cocke made an unusually interesting and instructive talk before the members of the Art Club and their friends last Tuesday afternoon in the clubrooms. Miss Cocke talked mainly about the new school at Lakeside for backward and nervous children, known as "St. Christopher's School," of which she has charge. She emphasized the need in Virginia for the special education of backward and

Stops Falling Hair

This Home Made Mixture Stops Dandruff and Falling Hair and Aids Its Growth.

To a half pint of water add:
Bay Rum 1 oz.
Sassafras Compound a small box
Glycerine 1-4 oz.
These are all simple ingredients that you can buy from any druggist at very little cost, and mix yourself. Apply to the scalp once a day for two weeks, then once every other week until all the mixture is used. A half pint should be enough to rid the head of dandruff and kill the dandruff germs. It stops the hair from falling out, relieves itching and scalp diseases. Although it is not a dye, it acts upon the hair roots and will darken streaked, faded, gray hair in ten or fifteen days. It promotes the growth of the hair and makes harsh hair soft and glossy.

really deficient children, and gave a number of examples of wonderful work done in other States among these children. She dwelt at length upon the need of a vocational training for these backward little ones and the great good that may be accomplished along these lines. Miss Cocke concluded her lecture at the Art Club, and tea will talk by relating the legend of St. Christopher, which makes it such a fitting and lovely name for a school for children.

On Tuesday afternoon of this week, owing to the matinee of the Wednesday Club May Festival, there will be no lecture at the Art Club, and tea will be served by the members of the house committee to any guests dropping in after 5 o'clock.

Mayor Will Go Back to School

MAYOR RUDOLF BLANKENBURG, of Philadelphia, who has decided to go back to school. The Mayor and at least two members of his Cabinet will go to Madison, Wis., next month to attend a course of lectures on political economy at the University of Wisconsin. They hope when they return to be able to devise a scheme to end the hold-up of city finances by the City Council.

Moonlight Excursion. An interesting society event of May 22 will be the moonlight excursion down James River given by the Richmond Chapter, United Daughters of the Confederacy, of which Mrs. Norman V. Randolph is president. Many interesting parties have already been made up to attend this affair, and the Pocahontas will leave the wharf at 8:15 o'clock on that evening, returning to Richmond at 11 o'clock. There will be music and dancing, and refreshments will be served en route.

Miss Stuart a Maid of Honor. Miss Flora Stuart, of Norfolk, granddaughter of General J. E. B. Stuart, has been appointed to act as maid at the Confederate reunion of the Sons of Veterans, which will meet in Chattanooga, Tenn., in May. Each State appoints a sponsor and maid of honor to represent their district at the reunion, and Miss Flora Stuart has been given the honor of acting maid. The choice seems well placed. Miss Stuart is a charming young girl, and is backed by a long line of Confederate ancestry. Her grandfather was General J. E. B. Stuart, whose name is a byword in Confederate history. The reunion will take place the latter part of May.

In New England. Mrs. Channing Turner, of 305 East Franklin Street, and her sister, Mrs. R. M. Wagstaff, of Glent, Norfolk, are visiting their brothers, Dr. William L. Cowles and Dr. Edward S. Cowles, who are located at Boston, Mass., and Portsmouth, N. H. Both Mrs. Turner and Mrs. Wagstaff have been entertained a great deal during their stay in New England, and some very pretty affairs have been given in their honor. Both of the doctors are graduates of the medical college in Richmond, and have made no small reputations in their profession in the North.

Picture Presented. The Parent and Teacher Association of the William F. Fox School met on last Thursday afternoon at the school building. Much important business was transacted, and the Old Dominion Chapter of the Sons of Veterans presented a
